Abbaye des Rocs (9%, ale; format: 33cl, 75cl)

Abbaye des Rocs is a pure malt beer, with no added sugar. Its colour is a striking deep and majestic red. Its taste is rich and full of subtlety. It is tasted like a red wine with which it shares the ruby colour without having the tannin. It develops a strong sweet smell. It confirms the initial impression in the first mouthful, with a sharp body that is balanced with certain fruitiness. Frees itself on the palate and develops an impressive depth of taste. It is a deep, mystic and extremely mature beer consistently rated as one of the best bruin beers in the world.

Montagnarde (9%, ale; format: 33cl, 75cl)

The inhabitants of Montignies-sur-Roc, south of Mons in the province of Hainaut, are called Montagnards. It was therefore perfectly normal for a beer brewed in this city to be called Montagnarde. The beer has a fruity and spicy bouquet, it has a stark taste, between a sharp bitterness and a caramelised flavour. It has no sugar, and this pure malt beer oscillates between various tendencies which all round off the bitterness. It has a peppery taste at the back of the mouth and sharpness on the tongue.

Blanche des Honnelles (6%, ale; format: 33cl, 75cl)

Blanche des Honnelles was originally very localised, and has since expanded beyond the boundaries of the greater and lesser Honnelle rivers, from which it takes its name. The Blanche des Honnelles has an amber colour, which deviates from traditional appearance of the Wheat beers. It is also stronger than most of White beers. It has a stimulating taste, leaving a subdued but refreshing final impression. Lots of character.

Abbaye des Rocs Blonde (7.5%, ale; format: 33cl, 75cl)

Abbaye des Rocs Blonde completes the range of Abbaye des Rocs brand line. It is delicious and very enjoyable tripel fermented beer. It pours an amber orange gold with a medium creamy head. The finish is a mix between candy sweetness, malt and light bitterness.

Spéciale Noël (10%, ale; format: 33cl, 75cl)

A top class Belgian strong dark ale from Abbaye des Rocs provides exceptional flavors and incredible creamy smoothness. Full-bodied mouthful, almost chewy; moderate carbonation with a syrupy yet very creamy smooth texture. Goes down easy and with a light, pleasant warming. True winter beer considered one of the beers defining the category.

Grand Cru (10%, ale; format: 33cl, 75cl, 1.5l)

Abbaye des Rocs Grand Cru has a rich, complex fruit aroma of cherries, golden raisins, peaches, and assorted dried fruit, laced with honey and caramel. Smooth, rich flavors reminiscent of cherries dipped in caramel, finishing with notes of dried chocolate, roasted almonds, and a hint of molasses. Consistently rated as one of the top beers in the world within its class.
